Identec Distributor agreement

APPROVED

Denca becomes official Identec UK distributor

Widnes-based industrial control technologies specialists, Denca Controls, have further strengthened their working relationship with radio frequency identification specialists, Identec, by signing a formalised distributor agreement.

Committed to the use of best-of-breed technologies in all their industrial control solutions, Denca has employed Identec's RFID tags and transponders extensively over a number of quality-critical manufacturing operations.

These applications include quality logging and body tracking systems at some of Europe's most advanced automotive manufacturing plants, as well as various batch-tracking solutions for the healthcare sector, where systems can be used to provide fully traceable electronic documentation as required for FDA approval.

Now, as Identec's official UK distributor and installation partner, Denca believes it will be better placed to assist organisations of all kinds in benefiting from the latest RFID and barcode support technologies.

Comments Denca Joint Managing Director, Alan Brennan, "Our association with Identec further strengthens our capability to create industry-leading solutions for the most demanding of data-tagging requirements - and we are particularly delighted to gain the opportunity to work more closely with this leading RFID technologies manufacturer."
